

The Third Proclamation of Emancipation (Or the next set of 10 commandments for CFP employees) -- this article only represents Kuo Cheng's personal thinking and has nothing to do with the CFP plant officially

We must set standards for the following:

- 1) What should we do so that we use cellphones responsibly. (When we are alone and when we are with others.) (Are we enslaved by cellphones?) (Are we drugged by cellphones?) (Do we let cellphones affect our relationships with others in negative ways?) (Do we let cellphones take over our lives?)
- 2) When we do anything, do we finish what we do, or do we mindlessly leave something for others to finish as if they were slaves?
- 3) Do we play "friendship" games? (Our own or other's.)
- 4) Do we properly leave people alone?
- 5) Are we having democracy or "revenge politics" now?
- 6) "Pop cultures" in the last century have become "prop cultures" of today, which pay attention to appearance and funniness, instead of essence and meaning. That is why through the Internet we see many people look so 'vacuum-like'.
- 7) "Bot cultures" come next. See that AI technology is used to produce dolls that look like Barbie!!! What a waste! What are those people thinking!!! Furtherly, people do face-lift surgeries that make them look like dolls instead of human beings. Are appearances so important that we let them override humanities? As I understand, real beauty comes from inside. [^{nèi zài měi}“内在美” in Chinese.]
- 8) It is time for us to reexamine "Freedom".
- 9) It is time for us to reexamine "Self-education" and "Discipline".
- 10) It is time for us to reexamine technology, appearance, and our relationship with God.

The above are the 10 areas we can do to improve CFP. If they work at CFP, they will work at other places too.

Thanks for reading.
